Guidance for Flash Talk Presenters

We are delighted that you have been accepted for a Flash Talk at this year's conference. Flash Talks are new this year and we expect them to be an energetic highlight of the conference. To help you prepare and ensure everything goes smoothly on your day, we've put together the following tips. Let us know if you have any questions.

- Flash Talks will be for a strictly timed 10 minutes duration. You will not be permitted to overrun.
- To ensure people are well-prepared we will ask you to submit a recording (audio or video) of you delivering your flash talk by Wednesday 1 January 2025 to gary@annualchemistry.com. It's a great opportunity to practice!
- These talks are designed to give people an engaging overview of your work. Prepare well and avoid cramming in too much! One of the great things about a flash talk is that lots of people will see it. Those who are particularly interested in your work are likely to seek you out during the conference to hear more.
